# REPORT ON THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE COURSE

Introduction:

The aim of this report is to describe the learning process and the facilities available on the language course I have attended and to suggest future improvements.

Teaching methods:

The main advantage of the course is that its teaching system is tutorial-based meaning that students work with their teacher in very small groups. It allows you to ~~improve~~ make progress in relatively short time. The tutors are well-qualified, friendly and – most important – ready to apply individual learning methods to every student.

Learning materials:

Due to the tutorial system, the teachers do not use a fixed variety of textbooks. Moreover, they rarely use any, focusing attention on conversational language and using classic literature to learn. Although this method is effective for advanced learners, it does not suit those who are not fluent and need to focus on grammar.

Facilities:

Despite having high teaching standards, the course lacks some basic equipment and facilities:

- Computers:

There is only one computer class in the building

- Internet:

~~is~~ very nice that you can choose tutorial time for yourself. However, these are still read very early, and some people hate being an early riser.

Conclusions:

In conclusion, I would strongly recommend to improve your technological equipment and to concern the lack of learning materials for beginners.
