- play truant
- cheat sheet
- detention
- dunce
- terrific

Write 220 - 250 words.

This ^{terrific} story happened 4 years ago, when me and my classmates were about 13-14 years old. Firstly, I should probably describe my classmates: most of them were very intelligent, but there was one boy Mark, who wasn't very keen on studying: he often used cheat sheets and as a consequence got many detentions. He also had fun making teachers cry and scream. I don't know why, but he had a nickname "Dunce". Anyway, nobody could ever make him study, except for Dr. Ivanova, who was a literature teacher and always said to ~~us~~ Mark that she would make him a good student. Dr. Ivanova was very ~~clever~~ ~~and~~ very calm, whatever Mark did and talked with him as with ~~an grown up~~ adult.

So one day we had a math class and suddenly our director came in and said: "Guys, I have some bad news ~~for~~ Dr. Ivanova is in the hospital, she had a heart attack!" It is not possible to describe Mark's reaction. He ~~was~~ was really shocked. We decided to visit Dr. Ivanova, but she didn't look well. After 3 days she passed away. It was the most horrible experience I've ever had.

But as this story is about Mark I should probably concentrate on his feelings.

He was really ~~sad~~ depressed for ~~some~~ ~~days~~ ~~at work~~ ~~and he started to work hard~~ ~~at work~~ ~~at work~~ but after that he came back to school as a completely different person. He started to study hard, he got all "A"s in his diploma and right now he is studying for a medical degree. I ~~met~~ met him a couple weeks ago and he said me that sadly, but Dr. Ivanova made him become a good person and student.

It is really sad, that sometimes people change only after someone's death.
