Once upon a time, I was sitting on a lesson, dreaming about graduating a university and finding a well-paid job. But I had no idea how to accomplish my dreams as my knowledge in all sciences was very poor and my family had no spare money to pay for my education. But suddenly I found a solution! I decided to take part in an Olympiad at foreign languages, provided by one of the most prestigious universities of my city.

"What a terrific idea!" my friends told me, while I was full of determination to put my plan into existence. I prepared a lot of cheat sheets, and moreover in spite of any restrictions, a mobile telephone was hidden in the pocket of my jacket.

So on the day of the contest I was really nervous! But when I entered the classroom and threw a gaze on the tasks, I calmed down. After the words of a jury member. That the olympiad had started, I have done all tasks accurately and quickly, without any help from besides.

And I managed to win the contest, that allows me to enter any university without exam. And do you know which one I have chosen? Of course, it was MCU! Now I remember this story with a strong feeling of detention but also with a lot of fun. I started to study very hard and realized that we learn only for ourselves, for our long, happy future.
